

What is your favorite urban park in the Portland area?

by DJC Staff

Published: May 1st, 2005

"That's an easy one. The South Park Blocks have always been my favorite. They epitomize Portland's urban philosophy of integrating architecture, landscape and people. At any one time you can experience the incredible diversity of our population from (Portland State University) students, performing and visual arts patrons, business people, church attendees, tourists, and families with children.

It is an outdoor space that is flexible and often transformed into many wonderful uses such as the Farmer's Market, art fairs, wine tastings, performing arts exhibits, even a pot-luck space for the disadvantaged population."

- Andrea Bainbridge, president and founder of Bainbridge Design Inc.

Complete URL: <http://djcoregon.com/news/2005/05/01/whats-your-favorite-urban-park-in-the-portland-area/>